BEHIND THE SCENES

my must-haves

Interior designer BETH WEBB shares some of her most cherished people, places and things Produced by CLINTON SMITH on the nose “Mad et Len candles from Dixon Rye—in scents Terre Noire and Graphite—are divine. Mix both or choose one note. Once a candle is done, I save the waxed, blackened iron vessels to use with a votive for my tabletop. So chic!” Pictured: Mad et Len candle in Graphite; dixonrye.com cheers “Ranch Water is a go-to cocktail. It all started with a trip to Dallas, Texas, and I’m now a total tequila convert. Mix Casa Dragones with Topo Chico and a generous squeeze of lime, and it’s perfect every time.”

sweet dreams “I’ve had a cashmere blanket on my bed forever. They are not easy to come by, although Loro Piana just came out with a new one in, of all things, a cashmere bouclé!” Pictured: Loro Piana Throw Blanket; us.loropiana.com food for thought “Marcella Hazan’s Bolognese Sauce, Ina Garten’s Perfect Roast Chicken and Scott Peacock’s Breakfast Shrimp for Supper are always on rotation.”

flower “Peonies! White, pink or red, I’ve never met a peony I didn’t love. Kirk Whitfield at k&co floral design knows this and always incorporates a few in every arrangement that comes our way.”

perfume “I rarely change my perfume as I truly believe that it is a part of one’s persona and what you are often remembered by. Mine is Frederic Malle’s Portrait of a Lady.” fredericmalle.com hotel “I’ve never stayed anywhere finer than at La Réserve in Paris—the definition of luxury in every sense of the word.” lareserve-paris.com indulgence “The only two things I craved during my pregnancies were Krystal hamburgers and caviar—now that’s a high/low! Caviar from Petrossian continues to be a favorite.” Pictured: Petrossian caviar; petrossian.com be my guest “A well-appointed guest room should feel like a five-star hotel. A Lobmeyr carafe on the bedside table is always a good idea.” Pictured: A Lobmeyr carafe furniture “Anything by Rose Tarlow, Formations or Gregorius Pineo.” rosetarlow.com; formationsusa.com; gregoriuspineo.com eye spy “I’ve wanted a piece by artist Jacob Collins forever. When I found one last winter, instead of buying one, we bought two!” jacobcollinspaintings.com
